

Center 58 School District

Academic Academies

Through the Center 58 School District Academic Academies, students are able to exhibit Real World Learning. Real World Learning is part of the Ewing Marion Kauffman Foundation initiative to empower districts of all sizes, from the many diverse communities that comprise our region, to engage in learning, working, and being accountable together toward a common goal: by 2030, all high school students across our region graduate with Market Value Assets and a diploma, preparing them for future work and learning.
